

Basic Safety Philosophy

On the way to setting your goals and objectives for 2013, consider these elements:

- Every incident can and should be avoided.
- No job is worth getting hurt for.
- Every job will be done safely, or not at all.
- Incidents can and should be managed on a timely basis.
- Safety is everyone's responsibility, not just the safety manager's.
- Learn and use our industry's best management practices.
- Develop safety standards, procedures and practices for every operation.
- Proper and thorough training is necessary to do the job right.
- Working safely is a condition of employment.

Produced by the Institute of Scrap Recycling Industries
www.isri.org

Comments/questions?
www.isrisafety.org

January 8, 2013