

Do you always have to get there first?

Racing through a yellow light and jack rabbit starts do nothing but put you and your vehicle in great danger. It also causes unnecessary wear and tear on your vehicle. When drivers are on the road they need to be cautious and predictable in everything they do. Just because the other motorist wants to beat you to the light doesn't mean we should play his or her dangerous game. Slow down, follow the speed limits, and don't let other drivers irritate or intimidate you. Our vehicle is many tons of raw, unstoppable power and we need to respect its limitations and potential for massive damage. The turtle always seems to get there on time.
