

For Your Driving

Have you hugged your mechanic today?

Truck drivers and mechanics do not always see things the same way. Yet when your vehicle inspection reveals a problem that needs to be fixed, the mechanic should be your best friend.

Doing a simple job like changing a burned-out light bulb often requires a more thorough inspection of the electrical wiring. Good mechanics will take the time to do a complete diagnosis. Drivers need to be patient and let the professional mechanics do their job.

When a driver finds himself broken down along the highway, a good relationship with the mechanics will make a big difference and have you on-the-road again in no time. Hug your mechanic today!

September 16, 2008