

Is your load within legal limits?

Drivers in the scrap recycling industry make important decisions every day. Sometimes we get mixed signals about what is truly an acceptable load. The salesman says 'pick it up', the dispatcher says 'take it,' and the customer says 'get it out of here.' But if the load is overweight – and most drivers can tell as soon as they pick up the box – the driver faces an important decision: Do I risk a ticket and fine, do I risk damaging the equipment, do I risk an accident?

The final decision rests with you – the Professional Driver . Do the right thing.